LOOKING AT TINY HOUSES IN PORTLAND

SEPTEMBER 22, 2015 | ANNA

Tiny House Hotel

In September 2015 we flew up to Portland to enjoy their green landscape and cooler weather, and to check out a tiny house hotel I had read about. As it turned out the hotel was full that weekend, but we were hosted instead by a tiny house builder and his wife (Eric and Roxanne Bohne), who happened to have one sitting in their back yard. It was fun — a bit like being in a tree house. We think their popularity will continue to increase.

Besides looking at tiny houses we visited the Pittock Mansion, hiked in Forest Park, drove out to Multnomah Falls, and toured the Bonneville Dam.
