

News from Nan

TRAVEL

EXPLORING THE PALOUSE

AUGUST 27, 2016 | ANNA

Palouse from the air

Over the weekend of August 12-15, 2016, we flew up to Spokane, Washington, to explore the Palouse area of Eastern Washington and Western Idaho.

We rented a room through Airbnb (for the first time) in a little town called Potlatch. Our hostess, Irene, was a warm, friendly person and very helpful with suggestions for things to see.

The wheat harvest was in full swing, and it was fun to see the big farm machines at work. We also visited Heyburn State Park, Palouse Falls, and toured the towns of Palouse, Coeur d'Alene, and Moscow.

Heyburn State Park

Sunflower in the Moscow Arboretum

Harvest

Wheat field and farm house

Wheat and map

Palouse Falls

◀ 2016    ◀ COEUR D'ALENE    ◀ IDAHO    ◀ JOHNSON    ◀ MOSCOW    ◀ PALOUSE    ◀ PHOTOGRAPHY    ◀ POTLATCH
◀ SPOKANE    ◀ VAN RAAPHORST    ◀ WASHINGTON    ◀ WHEAT