CURSES, FOILED AGAIN BY ANOTHER HAIL STORM!

MARCH 5, 2023 | ANNA

Hail on the bridge over Sonoma Creek

This morning a group of Glen Ellen community-minded citizens got together by the bridge over Sonoma Creek to pick up trash. Alas, we had been there no more than 10 minutes, and were just getting organized, when another of our frequent hail storms passed by and drenched us all!

Besides spiffing up the town, it would have been a good opportunity to meet more of our new neighbors

We met at the place where Sonoma and Calabazas Creeks meet. For a few minutes hail covered everything.

Eventually the hail morphed into rain, but we had to postpone our trash project to next week.

These storms come and go quickly, but it looks like another one will hit soon!
