

News from Nan

NEWS 'N' VIEWS, PHOTOGRAPHY

MORE SIGNS OF SPRING

APRIL 4, 2023 | ANNA

We already posted springtime photos taken in and around 223 Bonnie Way in Glen Ellen, California, the place where we moved in January of this year.

Lazuli bunting (by Dick)

Now that the rain is tapering off, we've been out and about running, walking, and taking more pictures of the wonderful wildflowers ("domestic" survivors, too!) that have rushed into bloom. Many of them are on the property where we live, which backs up to a beautiful little seasonal creek ("Justi Creek").

Bee on rosemary (the hummingbirds love it, too) (by Anna)

As we walk around the property we continue to discover more modern-day artifacts, which had gotten lost or were ignored in the aftermath of the “Nuns Fire” that destroyed the buildings and much of the vegetation in the neighborhood in October 2017.

Here are more of our recent pictures in both categories.

Artifact from the back yard, in honor of the Easter season, and a reminder of all that was lost in the fire of 2017 (by Anna)

Field of buttercups (by Dick)

Root cave by the creek (could this be where the foxes are living?) (by Anna)

Dandelion (by Dick)

Crow on an oak branch (by Anna)

Purple pea flower (by Anna)

Whimsical artifact, in situ (by Anna)

Yellow sedum flowers (by Anna)

◀ 2023 ▶ 223 BONNIE WAY ▶ ARTIFACT ▶ CALIFORNIA ▶ FLOWER ▶ GLEN ELLEN ▶ SPRING